

SUFFRAGISTS PLAN CAMPAIGN

Day at Long Beach and Other Days at Sea Cliff, Quogue, and Elsewhere.

The suffragists are to hold a "safe and sane" Fourth of July celebration at Long Beach. Through the courtesy of Senator William A. Reynolds they will hold a "Votes for Women" meeting at the band stand and make it a continuous performance throughout the day.

This is a part of a ten-day Long Island campaign of the New York State Woman Suffrage Association, under the direction of Miss Clara B. Morrison, sister-in-law of Timothy L. Woodruff, beginning on July 3. Cake and lemonade, as well as buttons and suffrage propaganda will be sold, the proceeds to go for expenses. One of the biggest meetings of the campaign will be held in the gardens of Doubleday, Page & Co., at Garden City. By courtesy of Mrs. Hugh McLellan a meeting will be held at the Bayside Yacht Club house, at Sea Cliff, and in Queens Mrs. Alfred Eno has arranged for a large meeting on the lawn of her home, on Jericho Turnpike.

Mrs. Schuyler Warren will be in charge of the meeting at Southampton, and at Quogue Miss Alice Howell is arranging for a big meeting at the golf club. Mrs. R. C. Talbot Perkins heads a second division touring Long Island. Miss Harriet May Mills, President of the State Association, speaks all along the line. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the National Suffrage President, will be another speaker at some of the larger meetings, and also Mrs. James Leeds Laidlaw. There are a number of men speakers on the programme.

FISH MARKET PAYING.

Selling at  $\frac{1}{2}$  Cent a Pound Above Cost Found Successful.

The market which was opened Thursday under the Queensboro Bridge, Fifty-ninth Street and First Avenue, to retail fresh fish at wholesale prices to housewives on the east side disposed of 1,800 pounds of weakfish and bluefish before the afternoon was more than half over yesterday.

It will not open again till to-morrow morning, when it starts with a larger supply of fish than it has had on hand since the opening. These fish are bought on the morning they are caught direct from the fishermen. About one-half cent a pound in advance of the cost is charged, and this narrow margin has been found sufficient to meet expenses. Yesterday weakfish was sold at 8 cents a pound and bluefish at 15 cents. The Citizens' Committee plans to open a vegetable market at the same place on the same basis, and may begin selling this present week.
